BAN WAR-TIME CONSCRIPTION OF U.S. LABOR

House Moves Toward Final Approval Of McSwain Bill

By R. D. L. Turner,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, April 5.—(P)—Reversing a previous stand, the House today voted for a ban on war-time conscription of labor and moved slowly and impatiently toward final approval of the McSwain anti-war profits bill.

To the surprise of some, it also wrote into the measure an amendment forbidding the use on foreign soil of persons drafted into the armed forces. The ban against foreign service for draftees was made to apply to all those not in the army or the National Guard.

Before it adjourned, without reaching a final vote on the bill itself, the House voted other significant changes. It approved amendments authorizing the closing of stock and commodity exchanges and made the measure applicable only upon a declaration of war, instead of upon the declaration of a national emergency.

Despite changes, however, the measure shaped up toward a final vote still holding its provisions for placing a "ceiling" on prices at the outbreak of a war and authorizing the conscription of many classes of persons, businesses, industries and property title necessary to conduct war.

Although an effort to send the measure to committee for the addition of drastic taxing provisions gained some adherents, its leaders conceded defeat in advance. Few major hurdles appeared to remain up.

"How did you get out of Mississippi?" he was asked.

"Just as fast as possible," was the answer.

The question referred to last week's escapes in Mississippi during which the desperado and a companion robbed a bank, terrorized a large section of the state, and disarmed a posse of 15 men as they fled north to Memphis, Tenn.

Texas courts had assessed 363 years against the youngster for robberies and killings and he was sent to the state prison in the summer of 1935 to start his long term. Twice he escaped from the penitentiary—once from the very shadow of the electric chair.

Alleged Bank
Robber Is Held
In Quincy Jail

Job Marshall Miller Has Been Identified By Cashier
And Two Employees

Quincy, Ill., April 5.—(P)—Job Marshall Miller, of Fair Oaks, Newton County, Indiana, was held in jail here tonight on a charge of robbing the Farmers' State bank of Camp Point, Ill., July 5, 1934.

Sheriff Ray Robertson said Miller was identified as one of the robbers in Earl Pierce, the bank cashier, and Miss Ruby Rainier and Mrs. Florence Courtney, employees.

Robertson said he received word from H. C. Eldridge, special agent at Chicago for the Railway Express Company, that a man under arrest there had in his possession express money orders stolen from the bank. This man, the sheriff said, gave information implicating Miller.

With the aid of Sheriff Ulysses G. Hampton of Newton county, Indiana, Sheriff Robertson held Miller at Kentland, Ind., until he was able to obtain the warrant on which he returned Miller to Quincy today.

The Camp Point bank was the object of two pointed robberies in the last four years.

Believe Boy Is Victim Of Moron

Chicago, April 5.—(P)—Police expressed fears that Richard Max Perrott, four years old, had become the victim of a moron today as citizens of the north side joined in a search for the child, missing since Thursday morning.

Dragging of the Chicago river near his home was abandoned, police said, after they learned that the boy was seen in a candy store Thursday afternoon, accompanied by a shabbily dressed man who bought him two chocolate suckers.

Max Perrott, the boy's father, told police that Richard had suffered an injury to his vocal cords at birth, and was never able to speak.

Hardness of Youth

Three stony-faced boys, the oldest 20, the youngest 16, were sentenced to prison." Thus begins a news story which gives an account of the sentencing of three young murderers who killed a woman during a holdup. One, a 17-year-old lad, was given 99 years for firing the fatal shot. The other members of the gang were given fourteen years each.

They took their sentences callously, "stony-faced." They were "hard," and were doubtless proud of it. The reason for this hardness of our youthful criminals must be found if we are to do anything toward their reformation or the cure of crime.

The Recovery Administration still has to its credit the conquest of child labor and the establishment of progressive principles of work and pay. Undoubtedly, also, some industries have gained through its generally restrictive measures. Yet it is quite plain that the NRA is in no condition to be recommissioned by the President for another two years' service.

It may be that the senators will decide to drydock the NRA for a general overhauling. But when the examiners get to work it is not inconceivable that they will find it advisable to save a relatively small part of the framework and scrap the rest.

mark that it would be a grave mistake for America to adopt legislation taking the profits out of war.

"You can't operate munitions plants without profits," he says. "For in such business you have to allow private capital to invest money, and without profits you can't induce people to invest."

This would be quite convincing if we did not fight it against the background of wartime conscription of fighting men.

If the country can take an ordinary, peace-loving citizen from his home and send him out to face mutilation or death for a dollar a day, it ought to be able to exercise an equal power over the men who supply him with rifle and cartridges—and, as the saying goes, to make everybody concerned like it, as well.

Views of the Press

ENOUGH OF THE NRA.

From The Philadelphia Inquirer It may be recalled that when General Johnson retired—with the administration's tacit approval—great things were to be done for NRA. One-man rule was to be supplanted by commission control. The structure's creaking timbers were to be replaced and strengthened. These things were done, but to what avail?

The senators report receipt of a flood of complaints, charging that under NRA small businesses are oppressed; that reactionary elements control some codes; that rights of workers are being subordinated; that code authorities have usurped the legislative function, have assumed the power to tax industry, have undertaken to rule by force. These accusations are not new, but the fact that they persist, following valiant efforts to rebuild NRA, along more liberal lines, may be significant.

The Recovery Administration still has to its credit the conquest of child labor and the establishment of progressive principles of work and pay. Undoubtedly, also, some industries have gained through its generally restrictive measures. Yet it is quite plain that the NRA is in no condition to be recommissioned by the President for another two years' service.

It may be that the senators will decide to drydock the NRA for a general overhauling. But when the examiners get to work it is not inconceivable that they will find it advisable to save a relatively small part of the framework and scrap the rest.

So They Say

In history, whenever the banking system of a nation has been made subservient to the politics of a nation, the banking system has inevitably been destroyed.

—Jouett Shouse, head of American Liberty League.

Why shouldn't women demand political recognition, not for personal advantage, but for the opportunity to serve?

—Madame Secretary Perkins.

Americans spend more for cigarettes each year than it costs to maintain the army and navy combined.

—Mrs. William A. Becker, D. A. R. executive.

Food intoxication and alcoholic intoxication are similar in many respects. Each has its origin in perverted appetites.

—Dr. R. P. Baker, of Pennsylvania, addressing osteopaths' convention.

Rewards of Merit

American rewards of merit to its literary artists are not such as to induce them to continue to develop their art. They rise to prominence, snatching what financial benefits they can get from publishing, movie and radio rights and then cease to produce good material, contenting themselves with grinding out syndicate grit and trading on past glories.

The reason for this failure to continue production is the inability of the writers to lead the artists' life. The American people have not yet learned to appreciate the best literature to a point where a writer feels that his public needs and longs for what he can produce at his best. We will not reward high art or intellectual expression. We will not accept advanced thought and pay for it.

In some countries we consider less advanced than our own many poor people will go without meat for a week to buy the latest book from the pen of the favorite leader of thought Americans who will do that are rare, and writers know it.

Hence our authors write what Ruskin called "books of the hour;" our song-writers compose something that will be popular for less than a year; our artists work on cartoons or commercial pictures; our dramatists write for state production of a season. We produce few classics of any sort.

TO PASTURE KANSAS CATTLE ON ROGERS LAND NEAR WAYERLY

J. D. Weller of Waverly and H. M. Weller of Kansas have rented 100 acres of pasture land south of Waverly from W. B. Rogers. They expect to ship cattle here from Kansas for feeding.

The cattle are being brought to Illinois because dust storms and drought have made feed scarce in the section of Kansas where the Weller farm is located. Prospects are good for pasture in this country for the coming season.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

Second, the congressional appetite is as keen as ever and much less inhibited by fear of the White House.

When the Senate tried to provide that all appointments under the work-relief program should be subject to its confirmation, it wasn't sharpening its ax for Hopkins or Ickes or Tugwell, as commonly reported.

It was out after hundreds of thousands of administrative jobs which it anticipates will be created in the states and feels should be included in the spoils system.

Many Democratic members, of course, are prepared to be nasty about Hopkins, Ickes, Tugwell, or all three—if they can't get promises of "fair treatment."

His friends continue to hope that F. D. with his old-time brilliance, will soon again stage a spectacular psychological coup which will summon that strength behind him once more.

First, Roosevelt has slipped in prestige and an ever larger number of Democratic members have been willing to defy him on this issue or that.

There's no articulate, coherent popular support for his measures such as used to keep senators and representatives in line.

Army Keeps Drink Spot

Army officers and other Washingtonians will continue to buy and sip highballs at the Chamberlin-Vanderbilt hotel at Old Point Comfort, Va., a favorite week-end resort on a reservation long ago ceded by Virginia to the United States for military purposes.

Senator Harry Byrd and Congressman Bland of Virginia introduced a resolution to give their state jurisdiction over the hotel, which is alongside Fort Monroe, so the sale of liquor could be stopped. Under Virginia law, only state dispensaries can sell.

Secretary Dern advised the Senate such dual jurisdiction within military posts might create "intolerable situations." So the resolution seems dead.

PLAN ALUMNAE MEETING

The MacMurray College alumnae meeting of the Springfield group will be held in that city Saturday. A luncheon will be served at one o'clock. Those attending from the college will be President C. P. McClelland, Miss Genevieve Mount and Albert C. Metcalf.

This Brings Faster Relief From Pain

Thanks to the discovery of a German chemist, you can now get quick, safe relief from headaches, neuralgia, neuritis, sinus pains and rheumatic pains.

A simple tablet, called Acquin, makes an amazing difference in the way you feel. You take one or two of these tablets, drink a glassful of water, and relax. Relief comes in two to five minutes. That agonizing pain subsides. You experience glorious relief. The world seems bright and cheerful again.

Acquin contains no narcotics, quinine or habit-forming drugs. Thus can be taken in utter safety. Doctor Charles Lane Stevens, former editor-in-chief of the New York Journal of Health, states in effect that no other non-habit-forming remedy equals Acquin for quick, safe relief.

H. S. SENIORS PRESENT PLAY HERE FRIDAY

Large Audience Is Entertained By Class Presentation Last Night

A large audience enthusiastically received the High School Senior class play, "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh," presented in the school auditorium last night. Nearly every seat was taken and the excellent performances of the members of the cast drew many sincere rounds of applause.

Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh, her mother and sister, are former residents of Indiana and the family of a patent medicine salesman. At his death, the family moved to Washington where they change their name from Sayles to DeSalle. After a strenuous season or two in Washington society, they establish a name for themselves and the older sister marries an Englishman, thereby becoming Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh. She, her husband, her mother and sister all move to England where Mr. Bumpstead-Leigh dies. While in England they meet Anthony Rawson, the son of a prominent Long Island family, and he promptly falls in love with Violet, Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh's younger sister. For financial reasons, the mother and older sister wish to get Violet married to Anthony. With this in mind they return to the United States and visit at the Rawson home in Long Island. It is at this point that the action of the play opens.

The story moves fast and furiously with many complications arising. It so happens that Peter Swallow, the tombstone salesman from the same Indiana town as the "DeSalles," is visiting in a neighboring house and nearly ruins things by recognizing Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh as plain DeSayles. Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh manages to get some counter scandal on Anthony however which silences him in the nick of time. Then Violet falls in love with Anthony's younger brother, Geoffrey, making more complications. Everything ends well, nevertheless, with Violet getting into the Rawson family by marrying Geoffrey and saving the reputation of Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh and the "DeSalles."

The difficult character of Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh was played faultlessly by Louise Robertson. Miss Robertson has distinguished herself in previous productions and finished her high school dramatic career with a fine piece of work last night. Harry Story, another who has acquired an enviable reputation in preceding plays, interpreted the priggish and self-centered Anthony to perfection. Edward Smith demonstrated his keen sense of comedy in the role of the tombstone salesman. Peter Swallow, Smith has also been one of the most active members of the Dramatic Club during his years in high school. Violet DeSalle, the younger sister of Mrs.

GREEN URGES ELECTION OF BLACKBURN

Record Shows Republican Candidate Is Qualified Says Speaker

State Representative Hugh Green was the speaker at a "Blackburn for Mayor" meeting held in the Third ward last night. Fletcher J. Blackburn, Robert Keating, Miss Gertrude Hamilton, Randolph Little, Franklin Matthews, C. O. Bayha and John Longman, candidates for city offices, also spoke.

The meeting was largely attended and each speaker expressed confidence that the Republican candidates will be successful at the polls on April 16.

Mr. Green spoke in part as follows: "One of the first qualifications for public office is honesty and Mr. Blackburn possesses this qualification as is shown by his record in this community. He has resided in this community for a great many years. He has been in private business for a long time and has served as sheriff for four years. Throughout this entire period of time, his honesty has never been questioned. His dealings both in private and in public life have been fair and honorable and are an indication of what may be expected of him as mayor of the city of Jacksonville."

Another qualification for such office is strict attention to the business of the office. During the time that Mr. Blackburn was sheriff of the county, his record is one of the very strictest attention to the affairs of the public. As collector of taxes, he was efficient and as a peace officer he was always alert in discharging the duties of the office of sheriff.

Another qualification for such office is that a man should be able to get along well with people. Mr. Blackburn is of the temperament which enables him to get along and with those with whom he comes into contact. We all know that the office of sheriff, being the chief executive office of the county, requires the handling of a great many different kinds of problems and the sheriff is constantly coming into contact with all types and classes of citizens. The record of Mr. Blackburn as sheriff has been such that it may be truthfully said that he got along in a most splendid manner. While he was true to his obligation to safeguard the rights of the public, at the same time his treatment of those whom he arrested and had in his custody was always fair in every respect.

Fletcher Blackburn has come forth with a straight-forward platform which merits support. He has stated that if he is elected mayor he will see to it that the city lives within its income. This he purposes to accomplish by guiding the expense of the city's income according to the budget.

"He recognizes the fact that the tax payers have been burdened with special assessments and are still paying on the same and he has pledged to the voters that the tax payers and home owners will not be burdened with additional special assessments.

"He favors rehabilitation of the water plant, realizing that something must be done in that respect. He has gone on record as being in favor of the people having an opportunity to say what should be done in that respect and how much money should be spent.

"He favors economy in the administration of city affairs, but does not believe in impairing the efficiency of the service that the people have a right to expect.

"From his record in this community as a public spirited citizen, business man and sheriff of Morgan county, it is readily seen that there is nothing experimental about electing him as mayor. He has been tried and has been found to be a splendid public officer. He enjoys the confidence of the people of this community and if elected to serve as mayor, his administration will be characterized among other things by economy, efficiency, strict attention to business and absolute honesty in all of the affairs of the city."

GIRL TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY

Betty Weakland, 18 Year Old
Evangelist, to Speak
At Grace Church

Arrangements have been made for Betty Weakland, editor and radio preacher, to sing and preach at the Grace Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Although she is now only 18 years of age, Miss Weakland has completed eleven years of preaching. She has crossed the continent four times and has traveled from Canada down into Mexico proclaiming the Gospel. She claims the world's record for preaching in more churches than anyone her age and has had the privilege of speaking in the churches of eighteen different denominations. During her ministry the youthful evangelist has addressed more than six million persons exclusive of her radio audiences, she says.

During the past season Miss Weakland has conducted city-wide campaigns in Hagerstown, Md., Clarkburg, W. Va., Sidney, N. Y., Lynchburg, Va. and Lansing, Michigan. She is devoting the rest of the season to touring the West. During the past four weeks she has spoken in the First Baptist Church of Indianapolis; Urbana, Ill., First Baptist Church of Peoria and the Central Baptist Church of Springfield.

This will be her first visit to Jacksonville and she will be in the city for this one service only. Special music will be a feature of the service. Asst. Miss Weakland will be her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. Roy Weakland of Cleveland, Ohio, and her 15 year old sister, Dorothy Lola, violinist.
